

How Inflation is Impacting the Daily Lives of American Workers

Americans are struggling to pay their bills as they allocate more money to the cost of their commute, according to a 2022 study on the impact of inflation. Working with DailyPay and Funding our Future, the Harris Poll found that soaring gas prices are affecting the financial health and well-being of many employees. Here were some key findings from the study:

39% of women polled say they are saving less than last year

28% compared to only 28% of men polled

75% have struggled to pay expenses this year, including:
