

Supply Chain Issues

Supply chain delays and shortages are causing significant issues for hotels and hospitality. Typically, hotels need larger inventory to stock rooms and keep guests satisfied.

Product scarcity and higher costs are presenting a major challenge for the industry. Many hotels are dealing with supply issues for items including napkins, silverware, towels, sheets, and more.<sup>1</sup>

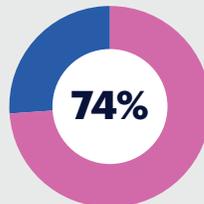

86% of hotels reported that supply chain disruptions are causing a moderate or significant impact on operations.<sup>2</sup>

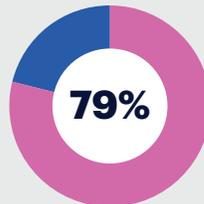

46% of survey respondents in December 2021 expected supply chain disruptions to last between six months and a year.<sup>3</sup>

Along with supply chain issues, hotels are also understaffed. In an effort to overcome staffing shortages, hotels should consider improving employee benefits with on-demand pay.

74% of hotels said supply chain issues are having a negative impact on revenue.<sup>4</sup>

79% cost increase on cleaning and housekeeping supplies reported by hotels.<sup>4</sup>

77% cost increase for linens as well as for food and beverage supplies.<sup>4</sup>
